

ICMA European Repo and Collateral Council

ICMA's European Repo and Collateral Council (ERCC) represents the cross-border repo and collateral markets in Europe. Membership of the ERCC is open to all ICMA members who are engaged in repo and associated collateral business in Europe. The ICMA ERCC currently has around 100 members, comprising the majority of firms actively involved in these markets, including from the sell-side, the buy-side and market infrastructure providers.

The role of repo and collateral markets

Repo markets play a vital and central role in the modern financial ecosystem, facilitating a number of critical functions and interacting with a variety of different financial markets.

Beyond providing a means for secured short-term borrowing and lending, repo markets are essential for funding the market-making books of broker-dealers for both sovereign and corporate debt, and so play a key role in underpinning secondary market liquidity for global cash bond markets. Similarly, repo markets are the glue that binds many derivatives with underlying cash securities, in particular exchange-traded bond futures and options. Often overlooked, repo markets are also where collateral is priced, sourced, and mobilised, allowing a whole range of financial and corporate institutions to meet the margining requirements that increasingly underpin today's financial markets. Finally, repo markets are the primary channel through which central banks target bank reserves and transmit monetary policy.

The ability for repo markets to function efficiently and effectively is essential for the overall health of the capital markets through which governments and corporates raise funding and where investors and savers can earn returns and capital growth. In many ways, repo markets represent the foundation stone of the financial system, that facilitates investment, employment, productivity, and economic growth. To interfere with repo markets is to tamper with the DNA of modern-day capital markets.

How big is the repo market?

There are large repo markets in Europe, and the US and Japan, and rapidly emerging (although still relatively small) repo or repo-like markets in China and several other Asian countries, as well as in a number of African and several Latin American countries. The ICMA's semi-annual survey of the European repo market in June 2017 set the baseline figure for market size at EUR 6.4 trillion in terms of outstanding repo contracts for the survey sample (which includes the most active participants in the European repo market).

What does the ICMA ERCC do?

As the industry's representative body the ICMA ERCC works to foster robust and orderly repo and collateral markets in Europe, by:

- Maintaining the Global Master Repurchase Agreement (GMRA) and its underlying legal opinions, which are updated every year, with new jurisdictions added as needed
- Overseeing the publication of the ICMA ERCC Guide to Best Practice in the European Repo Market
- Investing in the future of the repo market by providing educational courses and market information, such as the semi-annual survey of the European repo market which has become established as the authoritative indicator of market size and structure
- Discussing practical issues arising in the market and coordinating market-led technical solutions
- Engaging with regulatory authorities, including preparing position papers and responses to public consultations
- Working to ensure greater understanding of the importance of the repo product as an essential component of global financial markets
- Supporting the development of emerging repo markets by providing advisory services, often in co-operation with development institutions.

Structure of the ICMA ERCC

ICMA European Repo and Collateral Council – All ERCC members are represented in the Council which meets regularly to discuss broad industry issues. The Council holds two General Meetings each year which are open to all interested market participants. These events provide a good opportunity to hear about the various issues that the repo market is currently facing and the steps being taken to address these. On an annual basis, all full ERCC members are called upon to elect the ERCC Committee.

ICMA ERCC Committee – The Committee is the elected governing board of the ERCC comprising of 19 elected individuals from member firms. The Committee meets on a regular basis and is responsible for the public output of the ERCC, such as opinions on regulatory and market practice developments, responses to consultation papers, etc.

ICMA ERCC Operations Group and working groups – The Operations Group was established in 2006 to address operations specific activities arising from the work of the ERCC Committee. Composed of operations specialists from ERCC member firms, the Group aims to develop operational best practices and processes to improve the timeliness, completeness and efficiency of the repo product in the local, European and Global market places. Several working groups have been established to focus on key topics, including the SFTR Task Force and the FinTech Working Group.

ICMA ERCC Legal Working Group - The Legal working group was set up to complement the work of the ERCC, creating a forum in which legal matters arising out of the ERCC agenda can be discussed, including the development of the Global Master Repurchase Agreement (GMRA), scope of the ICMA GMRA legal opinions and the impact of relevant legislative amendments.
