(Luxembourg, 4 October 2012) The International Capital Market Association (ICMA) today launched a Private Wealth Management Charter of Quality at an event for investment professionals in Luxembourg jointly hosted by the Private Banking Group, Luxembourg (PBGL) of the Luxembourg Bankers’ Association (ABBL), which has today become the first signatory association to the Charter.

In an environment where regulation and compliance for the wealth management industry are playing an increasingly important role in client relationships, the Charter of Quality sets out in a single document the overall guiding principles of the private wealth management industry in a straightforward manner which clients will find easy to understand.

The Charter is designed to be consistent with relevant regulation at the European Union and national level, and to complement principles such as the Wolfsberg Principles on Anti Money Laundering and the Global recommendations of the Financial Action Task Force.

The three main principles, which are of paramount importance to the nature of business relationships with clients, are the foundation of the charter, namely:

- Integrity, in business relationships; of markets, financial products and services; and of staff;
- Transparency – towards clients, and regarding the regulatory environment;
- Professionalism – regarding the primacy of clients’ legitimate interests and efficiency.

Martin Scheck, ICMA’s Chief Executive said: “The launch of the ICMA Private Wealth Management Charter is a first step in gaining wider acceptance of the voluntary principles within it by wealth management firms throughout Europe. It complements the twin regulatory goals of effective regulation and investor protection and is consistent with ICMA’s aim of promoting best practice in financial markets.”

Luc Rodesch, Head of the ABBL’s Private Banking Group and Jean-Jacques Rommes, CEO of the Luxembourg Bankers’ Association (ABBL), signed the Charter on behalf of participating banks in the group at the event in Luxembourg, which was introduced by keynote speakers, Mr Luc Frieden, Minister of Finance, Luxembourg, and Mr Jean Guill, Director General Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier (CSSF).

Commenting on the initiative Luc Rodesch said “This is the first initiative of this kind where the private wealth management industry has joined together to voluntarily commit to common standards of quality, compliance and good market practice as set out in the ICMA Charter. By constantly enhancing their quality of service, Luxembourg Private Banks set new standards of excellence to protect the wealth, integrity and reputation of their clients.”
